

COMPANY PROFILE

TeamViewer operates a leading global connectivity platform with a clear mission to connect anyone, anything, anywhere, anytime. This ranges from providing remote IT support to remote control and monitoring of complex machinery and equipment. Through TeamViewer's proprietary software solutions, a wide range of computers, mobile devices and devices using the internet of things can be connected to allow remote control, management and interaction between people and devices, people and people or devices and devices. Its connectivity platform enables customers and users to unlock significant economic value as it permits them to increase process efficiency, reduce or replace onsite presence and manual intervention, improve product and service quality and promote connectivity and collaboration. TeamViewer's connectivity platform is cloud-native, very secure and highly scalable. Its modular architecture enables TeamViewer to develop new features and products quickly and efficiently to address a large variety of use cases. As a result of its free for private use distribution model, TeamViewer benefits from a very large installed base
